Barcelona, March 12. N. S.

OUR Viceroy has been to view the Spaniſh Troops at their ſeveral Gariſons; and new Levies are making for the Service of the next Campagne, when the Spaniards propoſe to have an Army of 25000 Men, without reckoning the Miquelets or Militia of the Country, which by Experience are found to be very uſeful. A Party of them made the laſt week an Incurſion within the Enemies Quarters, and brought back ſome Priſoners.

Malaga, March 14. A Bark arrived here this day from Ceuta, and brings an account, that the Moores continue ſtill the Siege of that place; That they were making ſome new Works, and expected a great Reinforcement, upon whoſe arrival they pretend to puſh on their Attacks with more vigor than they have done of late; but this may be lookt upon as a Report purely raiſed to encourage their Men, who are very much wearied and diſheartened with the length of the Siege, and the little progreſs they have hitherto made in it; for the War the King of Morocco is engaged in againſt the Algerines, is like to give him ſo much Employment for his Troops, that he will hardly be able to ſpare any conſiderable number of them, for any other Service: Some Priſoners that were taken lately by the Spaniards, report, that there are ſeveral French Officers among the Moores, and that the Conduct of their Batteries and Attacks was wholly left to one of that Nation, who was reputed a very good Ingenier; but that they are very much at a loſs how to manage the ſame ſince his death; being killed by a Cannon Shot; Theſe Priſoners ſay likewiſe, that 5000 of the Moores have been killed or wounded ſo as to be made unfit for Service ſince the beginning of this Siege, but whatever their loſſes may be, the Alcade, who commands the Mooriſh Forces before the place, declares, that he will not remove from thence, till he is Maſter of it.

Milan, March 16. The Marquis de Leganes, our Governor, is gone to Loretto, to meet there the Count d'Altamira, the Spaniſh Ambaſſador at Rome; 'Tis thought the Subject of their Conference is to conſider how to oblige the Princes of Italy to pay what remains due from them to the German Troops, according to the Agreement made upon their leaving the Milaneze. 'Tis ſtill ſaid here, that ſome of the Troops, in the Service of this State, will be ſent to Catalonia againſt the next Campagne. They write from Turin, that the Duke of Savoy has named Ambaſſadors to aſſiſt on his part at the Treaty of a General Peace.

Venice, March 22. The New Levies and Recruits that will be ſent to the Levant this Spring, will amount to above 6000 Men; and the Captain General has raiſed a Regiment or two in the Morea; The laſt Advices from thoſe parts ſay, the Squadron of Venetian Ships that had been cruiſing in the Archipelago, was come back to Napoli di Romania, and had brought with them ſome ſmall Prizes; The Men of War in that Port were fitting out; and the Capt. General intended to go to Sea with the whole Fleet in the beginning of May. The new Fortifications at the Iſthmus of Corinth, which the Venetians begun the laſt year, are finiſhed, and that Paſs is thereby ſufficiently ſecured againſt any ſudden Attempt of the Enemy. 'Tis confirmed by all our Letters from Turkey, that the Grand Signior intends to go into the Field again this Summer; and that Count Teckeley, who has been for ſome time in diſgrace at that Court, is intended to command a Flying Camp towards Tranſilvania, where he endeavours to perſuade the Turks he has ſome Intereſt; The Perſian Ambaſſador was ſtill at Conſtantinople, his Buſineſs was to complain of ſome Spoil committed by the Turks on thoſe Frontiers; In which he was like to receive no great Satisfaction; They were fitting out ſeveral Galleys and other Veſſels, to be employed in the Black Sea, againſt the Moſcovites,
